

ABSTRACT

A drill tool body member having a pilot drill at a cutting end thereof and having a remote end axially spaced therefrom and a pair of frustum cutters mounted on the tool body member adjacent the pilot drill and walls in the peripheral surface of the tool body member defining an axially extending depression or flute extending from regions adjacent each of said frustum cutters to regions adjacent said remote end.

5

COPIES OF THIS DOCUMENT ARE AVAILABLE FROM THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES AT COLLEGE PARK, MARYLAND